“Dream the perfect Harlem.”—Geoffrey Canada

Build on the legacy of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. with your own Dream Wall.

Voice your dreams by writing them down on the provided template—or design your own! Then hang them on a wall in the classroom or at home, and join the University of Chicago in voicing our dreams.

UChicago will hold the MLK Celebration on January 12, 2012, at Rockefeller Memorial Chapel—where Martin Luther King gave his first speech to the city of Chicago. Special guest Geoffrey Canada will give a presentation on education. As a schoolteacher, Canada dreamt of more opportunities for the children of Harlem, in New York City. Then he shared that dream with the world and created the Harlem Children’s Zone, which today serves more than 10,000 children and 7,400 adults to strengthen the community and give kids a brighter future.

Now it’s your turn to share your dream. Submit pictures of your Dream Wall at mlk.uchicago.edu to have your photo included on the official UChicago MLK website, and mail in your dreams by December 23 to have them displayed at Rockefeller Memorial Chapel on the day of the event.
